

MVi Staff Capacity Building Training: Climate Change, SDGs & Green Micro Business

Stung Treng, Cambodia | 2 June 2026

On 2 June 2026, the first session of the MVi Staff Capacity Building Training under the Mutual Learning for Nature and People (MLNP) Project was successfully conducted in Stung Treng, Cambodia. 'My Village' staff members participated in an interactive session on climate change, the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and green micro business development, exploring sustainable solutions for climate resilience and community livelihoods.

The session was facilitated by SEEP Exchange Participants with support from Norec.

A SEEP exchange participant leads a session on the definition and drivers of climate change.

The training opened with participants mapping out their expectations for the sessions ahead and agreeing on shared ground rules to guide an open and collaborative learning environment.

Discussions covered the fundamentals of climate change and its links to the SDGs, before moving into a practical exploration of Green Micro Business — small-scale, eco-friendly enterprises that generate income while protecting the environment and promoting sustainable use of natural resources. Staff examined how such businesses can build climate resilience and strengthen livelihoods within their communities.
